Range Scaling

When using ranged weapons, the damage is scaled based on the range to the target.

At 2, 3 and 4 SQM range, the damage factor is neutral however depending on the difference from that range the damage will be either increased or decreased.

For players in the melee range the damage will be reduced by 30%.

For each SQM the player is farther to the target, the damage will be increased by %5 per.

Additionally an indicator icon will be displayed on the target that will change the color depending on the damage factor: grey for neutral, red for reduced and green for increased damage.

Divination Cards

Divination Cards are a type of items that can be collected and exchanged for a reward once a certain number of cards of the same type have been collected.

Different types of Divination Cards require a different number of cards for an exchange.

Divination Cards can be obtained from raid bosses and dungeons. The type of the cards that can drop depends on the raid tier and dungeon talisman level.

Shrines

Shrines randomly appear on spawns and grant a random buff when used, the shrines will disappear on use.

You will never find more than a single shrine in a certain spawn but the location of the shrine may vary.

You are also not guaranteed to always find a shrine in a spawn as the chosen locations are random. Shrines will have an exclamation mark icon above them to make them easier to notice and will display a tooltip with the name and effects when hovered with the mouse.
